4. ACHIEVEMENT OF OPERATIONAL PROJECTS WITHIN ADOPTED BUDGET AND APPROVED TIMEFRAME

The Arts and Heritage has no discrete operational projects in the current financial year however highlights of program activities are detailed below

Art Gallery

The Gallery continued to be closed to the public throughout November to allow for refurbishment work due to TC Marcia. This closure has provided Gallery staff with the opportunity to instigate back-of-house projects that would not normally be possible. The refurbishment includes a polished concrete slab floor, internal walls removed, plasterboard replacement, painting and lighting upgrades.

To better empower the staff to manage the collections and the exhibitions of the Gallery; in 2014 the Gallery Director negotiated with senior management at the University of Adelaide to develop the inaugural internship program with students from the Master of Art (Museum and Curatorial Studies) course. This provides a four week internship for post-graduate students to work with Gallery staff and gain experience in a regional gallery environment. It also provides Gallery staff with additional assistance to complete collection-based research and cataloguing projects. The second intern from the program, Anna Jug, worked closely with staff during November and completed research and writing for exhibition labels, artwork copyright enquiries, as well as selecting ceramic works for the upstairs display cabinet.

The newly refurbished Anderson Gallery and upstairs foyer was opened on December 11 with an exclusive preview for Friends of the Gallery, Christmas party and shopping night. The event also coincided with the launch of two new exhibitions Fantastic Worlds and Right here, right now both curated and organised by Rockhampton Art Gallery staff and featuring some of Australia's most exciting contemporary artists.

On Saturday 12 December the Gallery held a free family day which included the launch of Zombified: infected, a kids' book written and illustrated by local artist Carmen Gray; as well as children's activities and face painting. The re-launch of the Gallery was extremely successful with 337 visitors attending the two events.

2015 SNAPSHOT FOR ROCKHAMPTON ART GALLERY

| Total Exhibitions              | 15       |
|--------------------------------|----------|
| New Acquisitions               | 23       |
| Value of new acquisitions      | $33,450 |
| Travelling exhibition visitors | 27,266   |
|                                |          |
| Total Audience for 2015        | 45,462   |

Rockhampton Heritage Village

During the month of December volunteers contributed 2,485 hours to the maintenance and operation of the Heritage Village.

Deb Drinan received a warm welcome from staff and volunteers alike as she stepped into the shoes of Jan Wallace as Heritage Village Supervisor.

In the Shearing Shed the last Country Music Morning Tea for 2015 was held with numbers slightly down due to the heat. The Friends of the Heritage Village held their Christmas break up and the functions catered for the RRC Christmas Party which proved a great success with compliments and positive feedback flowing from staff.

The costume department has been busy not only making colonial costumes, but also drafting patterns and sourcing fabrics faithful to the period.

The NEATO Work for the Dole team has made a significant contribution enhancing the landscaping and irrigation for the gardens around the entrance. A new fence has been erected by a volunteer at the entrance to the Village which now isolates the "creek" from the general public and any mishaps. A tree lopping contractor and the Workshop Team Leader removed several trees damaged in a recent hail storm. One large gum tree narrowly missed Dingley Cottage.

Thanks to the dedicated attendance of volunteers in Reception, the Village remained open over the Christmas period with 145 people visiting the Village and a further 57 people seeking tourist information.

Trip Advisor Reviews

The Village now has a 4.5 (out of 5) rating on Trip Advisor and is listed as the number two (out of 23) attraction in Rockhampton.

"Do not drive past this one!"

Fantastic place with friendly volunteers that had a wealth of information to offer. We absolutely love museums like this, ones that bring in old buildings from around the vicinity and show collections from around the time period. It makes learning about the past of an area not only easy and accessible to people of all ages, but also makes the experience fun. DO NOT MISS THIS MUSEUM! The Travlin Family

Venue Operations

The Pilbeam Theatre was the venue for a variety of shows in November and December.

Morning Melodies, the popular concert series for seniors continued in November with Karen Beckett's show, From Hollywood to Broadway. Karen entertained audiences with songs from the legends of stage and screen.

Carols by Candlelight was held at the Pilbeam Theatre and Music Bowl in December. The Music Bowl concert was rained out but was rescheduled to 19 December .Both concerts attracted good crowds. It was the first time since 2011 that Carols by Candlelight had been performed at the Music Bowl. The events raised $10,956 for the Rockhampton Women's Shelter.

Work has commenced on the annual music theatre project, Mary Poppins and after a hugely successful audition process, where the number of audition places had to be extended twice to cater for demand, it seems that Mary Poppins is going to be big! Going on sale before Christmas and promoted as the perfect gift, over 1,200 ticket have already been sold for the musical Wickety Wak returned for their 40th anniversary concert in November at the Pilbeam Theatre. The popular group performed some of their most loved songs from their 40 years in show business.

The months of November and December are traditionally the time for end of year performances by local dance studios. Dance Infusion, Dance Star Studios, Capricorn School of Dance, Debbies Dance Studio and Puls8 Dance Studio all performed their concerts at the Pilbeam Theatre during this time.

The Cathedral College and Rockhampton Girls Grammar school held their respective speech nights during November

The Rockhampton Showgrounds was used for a wide variety of activities and events in November-December including: Children in Care Christmas Party, Tow-Ed Driver Training, Special Children's Christmas Part and the Handmade Expo. MEM 500cc bike championships were also held at the Showgrounds in December.

At the Walter Reid Cultural Centre during the period and in addition to tenant organisations' regular classes, displays and activities, the centre also played host to an exhibition by Central Queensland Contemporary Artists titled Colour, which ran October to November. Colour, allowed artists to embrace the vibrancy of colour and create works in their own style.

The tenant arts groups also held their popular Reid's Gallery and Gifts shop over November and December. The shop displayed and sold arts and crafts that were created by members of the groups in the Walter Reid Cultural Centre. The Rockhampton Chamber Music Society held two concerts at the Walter Reid Cultural Centre in November-December – Musical Celebrations and a Christmas Concert.

8.2 FUTURE USE OF GRACEMERE COMMUNITY CENTRE

SUMMARY

A further report is presented on future use of the Gracemere Community Centre.

OFFICER'S RECOMMENDATION

THAT Council considers the options for the use of the Gracemere Community Centre and resolves to:

- (i) Retain the operation of the Centre making it available for general community hire and does not enter into a lease arrangement with a community organisation; and
- (ii) Advises the community organisation that space is available for general hire within the Centre for delivery of its programs, on a non-exclusive basis.

COMMENTARY

Following a report presented to Council on 8 December 2015 it was requested that a further report be presented on the future use of the Gracemere Community Centre.

As outlined in the previous report the main complex of the Community Centre in Barry Street Gracemere consists of the hall area, kitchen facilities and four meeting rooms, three of which are separated by an operable folding door. The attached plan shows the layout.

The hall area and meeting rooms are all available for hire with charges detailed in Council's adopted Schedule of Fees and Charges. The Centre is regularly used with some hirers using the hall and meeting rooms on a weekly basis. In the 2014-15 financial year the facility had some 300 hires delivering an income of over $12,500. In the period July – December 2015 there have been 146 hires, with an income of $7,429, indicating potential income of around $15,000 for the financial year. These figures are based on single hire for a booking and do not include the use of multiple spaces by a hirer as is sometimes the case.

One of the meeting rooms is also used by SES for weekly training sessions, given that the SES shed is located on the same site.

The building is generally in good condition with the car park area being concreted in 2015 to replace the previous pavers which presented a safety hazard, and the installation of a Cardax system to facilitate better control of access.

In late 2015 an approach was received from a community organisation with an interest in leasing the Centre to deliver its programs in Gracemere. The organisation wished to lease the entire Centre so that it had exclusive use, but could offer spaces for hire to other groups or individuals when those spaces were not required for its use. It would retain all payments received for such hire.

As the Centre is located on land reserved for local government purposes it would seem that Council has two options for use of the complex, unless it wishes to purchase the land and convert to freehold.

Analysis of options

Option 1

Council could enter into a community lease for the Centre to be operated by a community organisation. This could be achieved by an expression of interest process or direct negotiations with a suitable organisation.

Under such arrangement the community organisation would be expected to pay an annual lease fee as well as all outgoings for the following:

- Electricity
- Cleaning
- Statutory servicing
- Pest control
- Security

These outgoings would amount to approximately $16,800 per year (based on current costs).

The community organisation would control all access to the Centre, administer all bookings, and retain all hire fees. Council would still be responsible for the structural maintenance of the Centre.

With this scenario the availability of space for general community hire would be determined by the lessee and obviously subject to its use of the space for its own programs. The lessee would also determine the charges to be levied for such community hire.

The perceived advantages of this option would be that:

- Council would benefit from not having to meet the operational costs. With the loss of income from hire this would see a net saving of less than $2,000 per annum.
- The interested community organisation's programs could be delivered in Gracemere

However, Council would still be responsible for the maintenance of the Centre, and with the anticipated usage this cost may increase. In particular, the type of usage intended by the interested community organisation could contribute to additional costs.

It would also place some limitations on the availability of the facilities for general community usage as the needs of the lessee would come first, and Council would have no control over the fee structure imposed for such hire or the type of hire permitted.

Option 2

Council could continue to operate the Centre as per the existing arrangement, making the facility available for general community hire in accordance with the adopted Schedule of Fees and Charges.

This is in line with the purpose for which the site was originally intended, both when the original School of Arts hall opened in May 1907 and when the new hall was constructed and opened in December 1984, and extended in 2008 with a $300,000 grant through the Queensland 150th Legacy Infrastructure Program (Q150LIP). As noted previously the Centre has been used by a diverse group of individuals and community organisations over the years for a range of events and activities, leading to a sense of community ownership of the site.

The community's desire to change this arrangement appears to have not been tested at this stage. The organisation which approached Council regarding the lease of the building advised that it had surveyed parents at the local schools regarding the proposal to deliver its programs in Gracemere, and had received a positive response from about 70 people.

The advantage of this option would be that Council retained control of the usage of the Centre and received all income generated by hire. It would also mean that the facilities would be more generally available for community access and available for any Council usage as required. It is noted that the Centre has been used for a number of Council activities and as a polling place for elections.

Under this scenario Council would retain responsibility for operational as well as maintenance costs, but would also have full control of the permitted activities to be held in the Centre.

This option would not preclude the use of the facilities for the delivery of programs such as that delivered by a community organisation, as it would still be possible for this to be achieved through general hire of relevant spaces.

CONCLUSION

While the two options considered still allow for the delivery of community programs, it is suggested that Council operation of the Centre allows for greater community access and council usage as required. As any lease could only be a community lease the return to Council would be minimal.

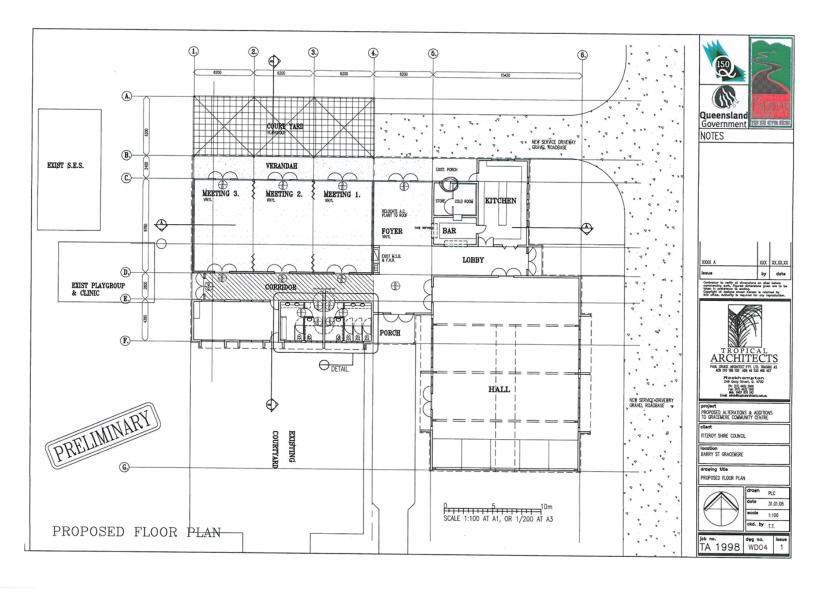

As outlined, the interested community organisation could still hire the Centre for delivery of its programs, or may be able to pursue use of other facilities under State Government control for its activities.

VARIATIONS, ISSUES AND INNOVATIONS

Innovations

The Library Service has been successful in obtaining grant funding of $16,250 through the Tech Savvy Seniors Queensland Program, a partnership between the Queensland Government and Telstra. The program aims to encourage more seniors to embrace information technology with the objectives of increasing digital inclusion, helping to reduce social isolation, increasing access to electronic government information and services, and improving awareness and resilience to online fraud and financial abuse.

Funding is provided to provide training through selected public libraries across the state including courses on the use of computers, tablets and smartphones to assist seniors with 'everyday' online tasks relating to shopping, banking, business, access to services, communication and recreation.

The grant will enable us to build on what is already offered at the Library's Technology Centre by delivering sessions for seniors in other locations across the Council area.

A total of 3 requests were received from Queensland Police Service for the month of November 2015 with footage able to be supplied for 2 requests, as the dates required for the third request exceeded the date range of stored footage. 3 requests were also received in December, with footage was supplied where possible due to faults with cameras.

Libraries

During November the libraries recorded 34,753 loans and 19,350 visits.

During December the libraries recorded 35,154 loans and 13,828 visits.

852 people participated in programs during the month of November, with 517 participating in December. The regular programs included:

- Lively Babies even though weather became much warmer, parents, carers and babies continued to make regular visits to the library to take part in the Lively Babies sessions. The last sessions for the year held in early December featured a Christmas theme and old fashioned songs, finger plays and stories shared with the group. Staff received many favourable comments from patrons of all ages about the noisy, bouncy action taking place in the library. The aim of the sessions is to encourage and develop a love of reading and a passion for using the library. Over 209 babies and carers enjoyed the library sessions in November and December with corresponding loans of board books, toys, picture books and other resources by families.
- Lively Stories a plethora of age appropriate stories, rhymes, songs and activities were used to entice and delight over 200 participants and their carers at the libraries in November. Themes included 'Numbers', 'Teddies', 'Birthdays' and 'Monkeys' with a simple craft activity to complete the story session. The ToddlerTime session at the Regional Library focused on songs and rhymes linked to the creation of cardboard box cars for the session. A group of young parents from the Girls Time Out visited the library for an orientation during the month.

The end of year program focused on celebrations for Christmas and Santa made a special guest appearance to read a book and answer questions from the audience about his busy pre-Christmas schedule. Parents and carers at both sessions spoke of their appreciation for the engaging display for the children.

- Lively Toddler Time participants joined in the active play at the Rockhampton Regional Library as part of the regular Lively Toddler Time program. Toddlers and parents joined in interactive parachute and rhyme play in the Fitzroy Room.
- TechnoTots a recent collaborative activity between children attending Kindy Care and residents at the John Cani Estate Aged Hostel at Mount Morgan proved an engaging and delightful learning opportunity for all. A set of mini-iPads used for the TechnoTots program at the libraries was used for the TechnoTots program at the libraries was used as an intergenerational learning tool for residents of the home in conjunction with young children from the neighbouring childcare centre. Children and residents enjoyed bubble and scarf play before the serious business of playing with the devices began. Young children sat with the elderly residents and demonstrated how to use the simple games installed on the devices and how to 'pinch', 'swipe' and 'click' their way through the programs. The TechnoTots (with seniors) session finished with a rousing rendition of the 'Hokey Pokey'. Many of the elderly residents expressed their pleasure at the liveliness of the program at the hostel and looked forward to further intergenerational activities.

- International Games Day a range of games were displayed at the libraries on Saturday 21 November as part of International Games Day activities. These included chess, Jenga, Citadels, Paizo and 3D jigsaws.
- Robogals students from the University of Queensland's Robogals program presented three free robotics workshops at the Regional and North Rockhampton Libraries in November. The sessions proved a positive and interactive learning experience for students exploring science, maths and engineering with excellent feedback received. Homeschooling students were targeted for the daytime session at the Regional Library which was filled to capacity.

Robot challenge

 Lively Book Clubs – a classic mystery and a psychological thriller were discussed at the book clubs in November. Ed Chatterton's A dark place to die was shared at the Silver Wattle Book Club at the Mount Morgan Library, with Lionel Shriver's We need to talk about Kevin analysed at the Regional Library's Book Club.

A compelling and shocking saga from the pen of Iceland's Yrsa Sigurbardottir was discussed by Silver Wattle Book Club members at the Mount Morgan Library in December. Silence of the Sea proved a fascinating crime thriller for discussion. Members of the group also decorated a Christmas tree to include in the annual Mount Morgan Christmas Tree Party in the School of Arts building.

Matthew Ames personal story of triumph in Will to live linked to International Day of People with a Disability in December proved a challenging point of discussion for Book Club members at the Rockhampton Regional Library. The group has already started on the first book set on the reading list for January 2016.

- Tax Help up to 120 clients accessed the free Tax Help service with our two dedicated volunteers at the Rockhampton Regional Library over the last four months. The introduction of the MyGov portal for tax returns has increased the requirements for community members to be digitally competent, highlighting the need for services such as that offered by the Library Technology Centre.
- Lively Knitting and Crochet Clubs the knitting clubs at both the Mount Morgan and Rockhampton Regional Library continued to operate all year round with some very keen stalwarts maintaining and recruiting crafters for the library program. The clubs provide an inclusive and welcoming program for all ages and abilities and continually welcome new members at both the Rockhampton and Mount Morgan libraries.

The Rockhampton knitters held a special Christmas party in early December with two of the ladies greatly enjoying the chance to organise a shared luncheon in the Fitzroy Room with all the festive trimmings.

- Mahjong at the Mount Morgan Library games of strategy continued to be well supported at the Mount Morgan Library, with a chess set recently purchased providing an avenue for challenging play. The mahjong group has continued to grow in numbers with the addition of another games table to accommodate demand.
- Morning Movies a range of old-fashioned movies were screened in the Fitzroy Room in the lead up to Christmas Day and also in the week between Christmas and New Year. Musicals and comedies on Foxtel's TCM proved especially popular for visitors during this period.

Lively Music – patrons enjoyed listening to music in the foyer of the Rockhampton Regional Library in the lead up to Christmas. Musicians used the Hélène Jones piano, acoustic guitar and violin to share Christmas songs and some impromptu jazz pieces.

Cultural Teashop

The final Cultural Teashop for the year at the Rockhampton Regional Library proved a resounding success, with nearly 60 people participating. AMEP students from English language courses at Central Queensland University presented their stories of migration and shared simple foods from their country at morning tea. Participants learnt about Iran, Sudan, Afghanistan and North Africa. A number of students took the opportunity of joining the library at the conclusion of the event. Cr Swadling dropped into the session to chat to participants.

Donate if you're late

Eight boxes of non-perishable goods were collected at the libraries in December as part of the 'Donate if you're late' initiative. The two week initiative aimed to encourage clients with overdue items to return them to any Rockhampton library branch during this period with a donation of canned food. Sharon Pabis from AnglicareCQ accepted the items from Cr Swadling to be used for Christmas hampers for vulnerable families in the Rockhampton region.

International Day of People with a Disability Patrons had the chance to have free hearing checks at the North Rockhampton and Rockhampton Regional Libraries on Wednesday 2 December as part of international Day of People with a Disability activity. An officer from Australian Hearing set up a mobile screening station at both libraries which a number of patrons accessed during the day.

A free drumming workshop held during the evening at the Rockhampton Regional Library on December 2 proved an engaging and inclusive activity for our audience. Chantelle, Tony and Nicholai shared some simple African drum rhythms using the Kraatz African Drum collection.

Especially signposted Recharge Scheme™ signage was also placed in the Rockhampton Regional Library to highlight access to a power supply for clients using mobility scooters or wheelchairs. Information about the scheme was provided on both the Council and Library Facebook pages.

Author Expo

The annual Local Author Expo held at the Rockhampton Regional Library on the evening of Wednesday 25 November attracted a good number of authors and participants. Authors included Alan Watchman, Alyssa James, Verena Strathearn, Royce Bond, Lyn Lawrence, Belinda O'Brien, T.C. Phillips, J. Mary Masters, Shelley Nolan, Craig and Shirley Marr, U3A Writers, Martin Johnson, Sandy Curtis, Nyssa Marxsen and Rita Diplock covering genres such as speculative fiction, romance, historical fiction, non-fiction, poetry, children's, memoir and steampunk. The event affords the authors an opportunity to network with other literary creators as well as sell their books to community members in the lead up to Christmas.

Author Alyssa James

A new journal of speculative fiction was launched at the Regional Library in November. With contributions from writers across Central Queensland Specul8 will encompass a variety of genres, including horror, sci-fi, fantasy and speculative fiction. A 'NaNoWriMo' writing workshop was held at the library as part of National Novel Writing Month following the launch.

Summer Reading Club

175 participants enjoyed a range of activities as part of the Summer Reading club program held at the libraries during the school holiday period. The reading incentive program was launched at the Regional Library in mid-December, with children encouraged to register, read and be rewarded for their reading efforts over the next four to five weeks. The national program has a large digital component with children encouraged to try a variety of engaging activities linked to digital awareness and the chance to win major prizes.

School holiday activities

An Encyclopaedia Britannica online scavenger hunt proved a popular activity conducted at both the Rockhampton and North Rockhampton libraries with 38 participants taking part in the challenge. Participants had to find answers to six simple questions using the online database.

Craft activities once again proved extremely popular at the North Rockhampton Library and Mount Morgan Library with nearly 80 primary school participants and their families trying their hand at making retro recycled festive decoration.

An anime and manga drawing session held at both Rockhampton branch libraries proved a cool reprieve for our young artists to share illustrative skills in a relaxed and collegiate atmosphere.

Birch Carroll & Coyle once again donated movie passes and merchandise for colouring competitions linked to movies released in December. Winners were very excited to pick up prizes at all libraries for this promotion.

A Song Creator iPad Writing Workshop held at the Rockhampton Regional Library for young adults during the school holidays saw some creative and well-written songs crafted with music facilitator Fran Vaux over three hours. Students learnt how to create an original song, through guided process of lyric writing, composing and recording layers of music using the Garage Band app on iPads which were provided by the facilitator. Participants learnt how to express meaning, find rhythm, thyme and form during the informal workshop – and were able to keep an .mp3 of their recordings. Music created during the workshop was uploaded to Sound Cloud, with an example of one student's instrumental work found here:

Exhibitions

Exhibitions during the November and December included:

- Domestic Violence Awareness Week display at the Rockhampton Regional Library
- Local Author Expo and display at the Rockhampton Regional Library
- Recycling Week display at the North Rockhampton Library

History Centre

History Centre staff focused on digitizing images in the CQME archival collection held in the Central Queensland collection during November. The collection is quite significant, encompassing a range of printed documents, photographs and other ephemera. Further listing of contents held in the collection will aid the location of specific data for researchers.

The process of archival investigation often takes many years involving generations of family talking and sharing news about family history. Local author Mark Svendsen was able to share information about a photographic album in the Anders Nielsen collection donated to the Rockhampton History Centre by a family member many years ago. The photographs related to Nielsen's second marriage to Daisy Gray, with images of her immediate family.

A large leather-bound book from the CEOs office containing names of Mayors and Aldermen of Rockhampton City Council and Rockhampton Regional Council from 1887 to 2004 was recently deposited in the library's archival collection.

A substantial collection of 1129 colour slides taken by Clyde Munns during the period 1960 to 1971 was also donated during the month, representing a fascinating snapshot of Australian life during this decade. The images include Rockhampton landscapes and the Yeppoon Parade Sun Girls as well as scenery throughout Australia.

Technology Centre

The 2016 schedule of training courses and workshops was established and marketed. With five new trainers coming on board additional courses including the new "Internet Made Easy" course will be launched in February. With the success of the Tech Troubles sessions, this program will be expanded in 2016 to offer sessions at the Northside Library as well.

Positive client feedback received included:

- I feel so privileged to be able to join such a professional and helpful group of tutors and your patience in helping with difficult tasks is really appreciated.
- Thank you all so much for a most enjoyable six weeks. I have learnt a great deal and look forward to joining your team in any future courses you may run.
- Good, supportive and patient team. Enjoyed my time. Felt lucky having a position to attend the course. A big thank you to all.
- The trainer and assistants were excellent; very helpful and accommodating with genuine knowledge and experience. In a word, the course is OUTSTANDING.
- Excellent course would be hard to get better trainers.

A Christmas break-up luncheon was held for the volunteer trainers where participants demonstrated their extensive knowledge of Christmas carols with some impromptu karaoke.

Overall statistics for November:

- 304 contact hours of community training was provided to 74 participants
- 315 contact hours of professional development training was provided to 42 participants
- 4904 hours of public access was provided for 3384 sessions

Overall statistics for December:

- · 62 contact hours of community training was provided to 21 participants
- 4013 hours of public access was provided for 2853 sessions

Child Care

Utilisation of long day care remained at 100% during November and December while utilisation of Occasional care places was at 39.76% and 25% for the 10 places available. While December is always a little quieter as school holidays have started there is just not the same demand for occasional bookings anymore, with the number of places available to be reduced to 6 in 2016.

The worm farm is growing the fattest of worms, with the children feeding them their left over fruit scraps. The Centre Christmas party was again well attended by families with around 220 people attending.
